Spardi Gras' Chance To Aid Defense

On May 1 San Jose State college's annual Spardi Gras festivities will be staged. At this annual event practically all of the organizations on the campus will have concessions; many of them will make money, a few will lose, and a very small number will go into debt. Taking into consideration that a drive to aid national defense has not been forthcoming on this campus, we suggest that all profits from the Spardi Gras of 1942 be turned over to the Treasury department.

Students have come to the Spartan Daily many times in the last several months suggesting a variety of campaigns which this paper was supposed to sponsor.

It is a big job to organize and succeed in a campaign of this type. There is a certain amount of opposition to drives, in which students give, but receive nothing in return.

Spardi Gras would be a "value received" venture.

This campaign will take the full cooperation of Denny Morrissey, chairman, this year.

We are asking Morrissey to consider the strong points of such an undertaking: (1) Spardi Gras has the full co-operation of practically all campus organizations, something that would be impossible to acquire at any other time during the remainder of the year; (2) the undertaking during Spardi Gras would demand a minimum of organization; (3) such a campaign has never been carried on to date; (4) the rise in spirit that would probably come from a patriotic theme.

Morrissey, we would like action on this idea at the next meeting of your committee. We know it would be a good cause to foster.

Orchestra Provides Music for APO Dance

A popular University of California orchestra will provide dance music at Alpha Pi Omega's eighth annual Full Moon dance in Brookdale Lodge the evening of May 2, announced Ken Stephens, chairman in charge.

The yearly spring-sport affair is one of the campus social events of the spring quarter, and the Brookdale Lodge setting, with its mountain brook running through the dining room will provide a particularly fitting atmosphere for collegians attending. New members of the on-campus fraternity will be honored that

Defense ---- De Voss ---- Defeat

The senior council meeting was in order. The question on the floor was, "What About a Theme for the Senior Ball?" "I have an idea," cried Wes Young, president. "We'll use Defense, and have a fence running all around the room."

(Crowd noises.) "I'm forced to admit it's not original," he added reluctantly. "It was Dr. DeVoss's idea."

"And every one can enter on their hands and knees," enthused Dave Atkinson, "because we can't have Defeat."

General Hush defeated the whole plan.

Varsity Forensic Squad Prepares For Debate Meet

Varsity debaters were today whipping their speeches into finished form for the tryouts scheduled for tomorrow night in preparation for the annual debate congress to be held at the University of California.

Saturday, April 25, the congress will convene with five representatives from each of the twelve Bay Area schools in attendance. Only two of the five from San Jose State college will give the standard eight-minute formal talks on the topic, "Post War Domestic Reconstruction."

TWO-PART MEET

Louis Marengo, California debate manager in charge of the meet, has divided it into two parts. In the morning, representatives will be segregated into committees of the problem and bring to an afternoon session their recommendations. Designed to imitate the United States Congress, this afternoon session will debate formally on the propositions.

CONTENTERS

DEFENSE COUNCIL ADDS OLIO SKITS TO VARIETY SHOW

"The olio skits from the Little Theater production of 'East Lynne' has been added to the San Jose State college Student Defense Council Variety shows, the first of which will be presented at the Army camp in Salinas on April 26.

The acts will combine with Ormond McGill, magician; Bob "Boogie Woogie" O'Brien, and Wallace Murray, the imitator of Baby Snooks.

At a meeting held late Thursday afternoon, the Student Defense Council officers were definitely settled. Rex Gardiner will remain head chairman, with Alice Wood in charge of the Service Men's committee, Ann McLaughlin in charge of disaster, and Florence Booth as the head of public relations. The other members of the council are Dave Atkinson, Tom Griffin and Don DeVoss.

Miss McLaughlin is at present arranging to have signs placed in all the classrooms indicating safety during an air raid.

Money Handout

Money collected by the Student Book Exchange through the sale of used textbooks will be distributed today only, announces Rex Gardiner, president.

Students are requested to pick up all unsold books today also. After 30 days, all money and books not called for will become the property of the Exchange.

ROMANTIC, CLASSICAL, MODERN MUSIC VARY CONCERT OF LONDON STRING QUARTET APRIL 21, 24, 28

Three separate concerts, each one planned to the interest of all types of music lovers will be presented tomorrow night, April 24, and 28, by the London String Quartet in the Morris Dailey Auditorium.

This quartet composed of four of the world's outstanding musicians was brought to San Jose State college through a $1300 donation by Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge, head of the music division of the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Earl Campbell In City Council Race

DR. EARL CAMPBELL

Running for the two-year "short term" vacancy in the city council is Dr. Earl Campbell, Political Science instructor in San Jose State college.

After instructing students for 12 years in the art of good government, Dr. Campbell is entering politics to put his theories into practice.

"I was requested to run for office by a group which is desirous of having the friction in the city council reduced and developing a more constructive program of city government," says Dr. Campbell.

Dr. Campbell's platform favors the following points: A liberal program of city government, better methods of recruitment and examination, and adequate salary scale and favorable conditions of work, and a sound contributory system for city employees. He is also in favor of enacting changes in the automatic referendum.

"The policy is foreign to the city manager form of government. It is unsound in theory and practice," says Dr. Campbell.

SPARDI GRAS PEP RALLY WEDNESDAY

Enthusiasm for the annual Spardi Gras celebration will reach a peak Wednesday when a pep rally will be held in the Morris Dailey auditorium from 7 to 8:30 o'clock, announces Izzy Gold, chairman of the rally committee.

By having the rally at this time it will not interfere with sorority or fraternity meetings, nor with "East Lynne" being presented that night, Gold said.

The candidates for this year's Spardi Gras queen will be introduced at the rally. Seven campus co-eds are running, backed by Washington Square organizations.

Soccer awards will be given out to members of the soccer team, and the track team will be introduced. The tracksters meet Fresno here the day after Spardi Gras.

Composed of two violins, one cello, and a viola, the members, all of whom were formerly soloist or first-chair string players in the country's outstanding symphonic orchestras, are John Pennington, first violinist; Thomas Petre, second violinist; William Primrose, considered to be one of the world's leading violinists, will play the viola, and Lauri Kennedy, cellist.

The program for the first concert Tuesday evening will include three numbers: "Quartet in E Minor No. 2" by Beethoven, "Biscay Quartet" by a British contemporary, McEwen, which was dedicated to the London String Quartet, and Shumann's "Quartet in A Major No. 3."

The program will differ in each concert. This year Mr. Otterstein suggested that they play a varied program of classical, romantic and modern music.

Students with student body cards will be admitted without charge. General admission for the three concerts will be $2.50 for two tickets. High school students will be admitted for thirty cents a concert.

Top Players Star In 'East Lynne'

"East Lynne," which opens in the Little Theater Wednesday evening for a four-night run under the direction of Ted Hatlen of the Speech department, stars some of the best acting talent from previous San Jose Players productions.

John Shepherd, who will be remembered as the Yale man in "Ah, Wilderness!" and as Jingle in "Mr. Pickwick," will appear as the smooth villain who steals Archibald Carlyle's jealous wife, Lady Isabel, played by Lois Ijams, while Benny McCreath, the man of the world in "Ah, Wilderness!" becomes a fugitive from justice.

Bill Kidwell, leading man in "Good News," takes the part of the noble and manly hero of the play who sees his wife stolen by the rotter, Levison. Jack Miller, also of "Good News" and "Mr. Pickwick," plays the upright guardian of Lady Isabel.

Betty Stuhlman, seen previously in "Holiday" and "Good News," has the leading feminine comic role of Miss Corney. Others in the cast include Deane Healey, who played the lead in "Ah, Wilderness!" and Mary Kirtley, who was also in the same play.

Pi Omega Pi's Hold Initiation Sunday

Four new members were formally initiated into Pi Omega Pi, national business education fraternity, last night at the Hotel Ste. Claire. New members are Mildred Kernander, Renee Price, Edith Manners and Bethel Beatie.

After the initiation the group enjoyed a dinner and a panel discussion was held with Dorothy Curry, Franklin Kelso and Leon Torrey participating. President David Atkinson presided. The discussion was on "Philosophy of Business Education to National Defense."

If You Can't Knit --- Dance

Approximately 150 soldiers are coming to dance in the women's gym tonight. Whether or not there will be anyone for them to dance with is the responsibility of every co-ed on the campus.

They are not intruders. They have been invited. And you are their hostesses.

The Monday night dances for soldiers began two quarters ago when Mrs. Sarah Wilson of our Women's P. E. department opened her regular social dancing classes to soldiers for instruction in social dancing. But the majority of the soldiers were already excellent dancers, and something had to be done.

The invitation to soldiers was not retracted. Instead the social dance instructor re-organized her program to fit the needs of the soldier. She was not initiating a taxi-dance movement. She was initiating a campus plan for aiding the morale of the nation. So the doors of the social dancing class were thrown open for entertainment, and campus women who like to dance were asked to be hostesses.

Most co-eds enjoy dancing. The guests enjoy coming. But the dances are not well attended by the hostesses.

That is, shall we say, unusual—and, quite possibly, impolite.

The reason: many girls do not like to dance with soldiers whom they do not know. That's tough, but this is war time. Many girls do not like to knit, but hundreds of skeins of wool have gone into the campus Red Cross room and come out as sweaters.

The dances are chaperoned. In order to obtain the Victory Orange Card necessary for entrance, and application for acceptance on the dance list is signed by the girls' parents. A plan is going into effect by which a student body card must be shown along with the Victory Card. This will eliminate entrance of any but college women. You'll be dancing among your own set for the good of your country.

If you can't knit, dance.

All the old hands around San Jose State college are beginning to get excited about Spardi Gras. Sororities and fraternities are competing for concessions; the men are competing in the traditional Whiskerino contest; and the women, or at least a chosen few of them, are competing in the queen contest.

To the freshmen and to the new transfer, or to anyone who hasn't participated in Spardi Gras festivities, perhaps all this excitement seems pointless. Most of these novices aren't quite sure what Spardi Gras is and what they are supposed to do about it.

Last year I was one of these new transfers and last year I didn't know why everybody was looking forward so anxiously to Spardi Gras day.

Now that I have gone through the mill, so to speak, I feel qualified to a certain extent to explain to the novices what they are supposed to do or not do about it.

In the first place, don't worry about costumes. You wear practically anything, from pajamas to bathing suits (if you believe in informality). Or if you want to, you can rent a fancy dress rig—only be sure to get something casual and comfortable. Last year almost everyone in my house wore shorts and shirts (I wore the blouse to my pajamas, just to be individualistic), and we had a whale of a good time even if it did rain all day. Maybe we looked slightly incongruous standing in line for our dish of tamale pie with our heavy coats over our short shorts, but we were happy about the whole thing.

As for what takes place during Spardi Gras—ordinarily you wander over in time to witness the crowning of the queen and king. After which you can wander around through the quad looking over the concessions with your friends. If you decide you want to toss eggs at an APO pledge or have your picture drawn, you go to the ticket booth, purchase a few tickets, then return to the concessions that interest you. In the early evening everyone eats dinner together under a tree if it's shady or in a building if it rains (which it won't this year, I hope).

One additional thing to remember: your camera.

Editor:

"The kind of war we fight will determine the kind of peace we will get." This terse statement of fact strikes the keynote of the protest we are making. Our plea is this—we cannot afford to degrade ourselves and needlessly embarrass loyal Americans of Japanese descent by continuous use of the term "Jap" instead of "Japanese."

To do so strengthens a very unintelligent and dangerous habit unfortunately in common practice, that of "name-calling" with its attendant evils and beclouding of facts.

This is no time for carelessness and fuzzy thinking. We are at war to destroy powerful, degenerate social institutions—which are not altogether abroad. Let us not endanger our responsibilities toward a just peace by practicing war-habits containing injustices and motivated by our baser powers.

Let's remember to say "Japanese" the next time we are tempted in our general tendency to shorten words and names. "Let's not lose sight of the salient fact that 'American' does not signify a radical trait but a national symbol." Our patriotism should bring out the best—not the worst in us!

SPARTAN WRESTLERS TAKE SECOND PLACE IN P.C.I. TOURNAMENT

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, APRIL 20, 1942

Aztec, State Tilt Postponed; Face Winged 'O' Next

There is rain even in Southern California. The San Jose - San Diego State track meet to have been held Saturday in San Diego was postponed by the southern college's officials, due to the sloppy condition of the track, Friday afternoon. The Spartans will face Charlie Hunter's San Francisco Olympic club squad Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock on Spartan Field.

Although the Olympic Club lineup is uncertain as Coach Hunter picks up his squad by telephone and telegraph just before the meet, such stars as Cornelius Warmerdam, the world's only 15 foot pole vaulter; Dick Peter, former University of California ace in the mile, and Phil Fox, former Stanford discus thrower.

Two possible performers are Lowell Todd and Tony Sunseri, both former San Jose track men. Todd holds the school record in the javelin, close to 220 feet, and also won the National collegiate title in 1937. Sunseri is a school record holder in the pole vault at 13 feet 10 inches and should team up with Warmerdam to take one, two in that event.

Coach Bud Winter's trio of sprinters, Bill Smith, Ralph Kaufman and Bill Rhynne, will face a man who is rated by track experts as one of the most promising youngsters when they meet up with Bob Waters, a student at Stanford who felt the edge of the Atherton axe. Waters was an ace in prep school and during his freshman year was looked upon as the greatest 220 prospect in Stanford's history. However, Coast Conference Commissioner Eddie Atherton stepped in and ruled him ineligible, so the Olympic Club grabbed him up.

Among the other prospective competitors for the club are Tom Moore, University of California hurdler who toured Europe with one of the American AAU teams; Greg Stout, Cal's iron man quarter miler of a few years back, and Russ Wulff, Stanford's former 6 foot 7 inch high jumper.

This meet will be the first test of the entire San Jose squad against strong competition.

Spartan Nine Meets Gators Today---Maybe

Spartan diamond men return to the front today (if it doesn't rain again), meeting San Francisco State college in the second game of their series in San Francisco this afternoon.

Early this season the Spartans dropped a last-inning 7 to 6 contest to the Gators after going into the ninth frame with a 6 to 2 lead. For the tenth time this season rain again caused the postponement of last Friday's USF-San Jose game until next Monday.

The Spartans were supposed to wind up the season against Fresno State here with a doubleheader Saturday afternoon. These four games are the final Spartan contests.

The Spartan lineup today will consist of Gottschang, pitcher; Boitano, catcher; Wehner, first base; Lazarus, second base; Colombo, third base; Urzli, short stop; Sonntag, left field; Ruiz, center field; and Jones, right field.

Spartan Netmen Battle Gauchos This Afternoon

Five Spartan tennis stalwarts left for the Southland yesterday where they will meet two opponents and enter the Ojai Valley tourney in a week-long invasion.

This afternoon the Spartans stop off at Santa Barbara long enough to battle the Gaucho netmen. Last year the Spartans nosed out the Gaucho team in the 2C2A tourney on the Santa Barbara courts.

BRUINS TOMORROW
Tomorrow afternoon Coach T. Erwin Blesh will send his netmen against UCLA in Westwood. The Bruins have not fared so well in Coast league competition, losing to Stanford, California and USC to date.

Playing for the Spartans will be Ronald Edwards, Dink Clark, Don McKenzie, Vic Morton and Eddie LaFrank.

TOUGH COMPETITION
The team will split when entering the Ojai tourney with Morton and Edwards entering the singles and doubles of the senior college division, and McKenzie and Clark playing singles and doubles in the freshman division.

Competition for the tourney will come from all the colleges and universities on the coast along with the leading amateurs of the state.

Spartan Keglers Defend Title

San Jose State will attempt to retain its all-college bowling title this week-end at the Indian Bowl in Palo Alto when they center the second annual all-college bowling tourney.

Last year the Spartans took the title after a close race with Stanford university, and have held the trophy for the past year.

The tourney was held in San Jose last year and will be shifted each year to the site selected by the host team.

Captain Dave Hines, Fred Albright, Hans Wiedenhofer, Ivan Olsen Garner Wins For San Jose; California First

By WILBUR AGEE
California again took the San Jose State wrestling team into camp at the annual Pacific Coast Inter-collegiate wrestling tourney at Berkeley Friday evening.

The Bears and Spartans each had four winners but the California team piled up 45 points to the Staters' 37. The University of California at Los Angeles, runner-up last year to San Jose for the title, was third with 18 points, failing to have one winner.

The Spartans took two seconds and one third with the Bears garnering three seconds and a third. UCLA had to be content with two seconds and five thirds.

FOUR EACH
Captain Dave Hines, Ivan Olsen, Fred Albright and Hans Wiedenhofer were winners for the Spartans. Winners for California were Roy Lund, 121, uncontested; Bill MacDonald, 128; Latane Saele, 155; and Graig Ortlief, heavy-weight.

Hines, in order to bolster the strength of the Spartans, wrestled in the 175-pound class after wrestling all season at 165 and entering the National tourney at 155. With an injured arm, suffered in his opening match, and spotting his opponent some 20 pounds, Hines decided Smythe of UCLA in the feature match of the evening. Hines, held fairly well in check by his heavier opponent, won by clever maneuvering that kept him on top.

In his opening match Hines decided William Windler of California, who took third in the tourney.

FIRST YEAR
Wiedenhofer, only a sophomore this year, won the 175 pound title by decisioning Irv Roswell. In the dual meet last week Wiedenhofer decided the same man. In the opening round Wiedenhofer decided McGinnis of UCLA.

Ivan Olsen retained his PCI title at 145 when he won by a fall over Badger of UCLA. Olsen, behind in points and seemingly about to lose the match, pinned his opponent in the final period with just seconds to go. Previously Olsen had decided Elvyn Stanton* of California, who took second.

ALBRIGHT WINS
Fred Albright again decided Captain Bill Wolf of the Bears in the 136 pound division to become San Jose's fourth winner. In the opening round Albright decided Ebrieman of UCLA.

Bill Fawcett, 128 pounder for the Spartans, took second to MacDonald of California. He decided his opponent from UCLA in the opening round.

DAHL SECOND
John Dahl, who beat out Ken Bailey in an elimination earlier in the week for a shot at the heavy-weight title, took second to Ortlief of California. Dale Tipton, winner last year from UCLA, graduated last year and the title was left open with no defender.

Leo Raiche, 155 pounder, took a third behind Saele of California and Nopceger of UCLA.

The Spartans were weaker this year than in past years, but came through in all their dual meets with the exception of the California match, which they dropped 20-14. They took second in the Far Western tourney behind California as in the PCI tourney.

They won dual meets from San Francisco State, UCLA and Cal Aggies besides winning the Gene Grattan Memorial tourney and a three-way meet in the Southland with Sherman Institute and Alhambra Athletic club.

On-Campus Sports

By "KID" SPARTA

Inter-fraternity basketball got under way last Thursday with a bang and proved early season predictions to a point. Delta Sigma Gamma, dark horse in the race, and Delta Theta Omega took the lead with opening wins. The DSG five made the best showing, dropping Gamma Phi Sigma 49-9. Bob Gager, one of last year's top scorers, and Doug Bacon paced their team to victory with 17 points each. At half time the DSG five had a 16 point margin.

FAIRLY CLOSE
The DTO five, up against a stronger team, came to life in the second half and dropped Alpha Pi Omega 35-21. At the start of the second period the APO five tied the score at 16-16 as the result of a charity toss. Gareth Adams, leading scorer last year, paced his team with 16 points.

Tomorrow Beta Chi Sigma and Sigma Gamma Omega make their appearance, but neither are expected to equal the strength of DSG and DTO. The SGO team took the title last year but are minus the services of Larry Sutton and Dave Leonard, who paced them to victory.

PLAY TOMORROW
The SGO five will meet DSG and the Beta Chis will face APO. The scoring race has already narrowed down to three men to date and will probably remain a close race between them, unless some others find their eye. Adams and Gager were close last year, and Bacon, a newcomer, will challenge both of them.

INTRAMURAL
The intra-mural softball race will get under way tomorrow with four teams again battling for the title. Last Year the Chauncies won the tourney, losing but one game during the quarter.

The teams play one game a week, dividing the innings over a two-day period each Tuesday and Thursday noon.

CHALLENGE ALL
The commerce teacher's bowling team is still looking for likely opponents and will take on anybody "who thinks they can stand up under heavy fire."

Men's P.E. Class Invites Women To Learn Skating

San Jose State women students desiring to learn ballroom dancing on ice are invited by the men's physical education ice skating class to join them in a mixed group every Tuesday from 5:30 to 7:30 at the San Jose Ice Rink.

There will be no credit given as a class for the girls. Any girl interested in skating may join; experience is not needed.

The plan for the mixed group is approved by the Women's Physical Education department.

Those wishing to do so are asked to sign the sheet on the main bulletin board in front of the Morris Dailey auditorium.

Pre-Legal Club Meets Today In Room 34, 12:30

Members of the Pre-Legal club meet today at 12:30 in Room 34, announces Mr. Owen Broyles, moderator for the group.

Plans for the quarter's activities will be discussed and arrangements completed for having local attorneys speak at each meeting.

"These men are to be prominent local members of the legal profession and their topics will deal with the place of the attorney during the present emergency," says Mr. Broyles.

"Because of confusion over the time and room number, our last meeting was poorly attended. It is important that everyone interested in the organization attend this meeting so that we may complete our plans," he added.

Broyles Declares 'Must Win War'

"The United Nations must win the war and write the peace." So said Owen M. Broyles in a talk given before Sigma Gamma Omega, on-campus social fraternity, at their smoker Wednesday night. Mr. Broyles discussed at length the propositions set up by a board of experts at the round-table discussion sponsored by Fortune magazine in February, 1941.

Horsemen Cancel Equestrian Show

Cancellation of the Curb and Snaffle Horsemanship show scheduled for April 25 has been caused by an inability to obtain enough mounts. Army buyers have recently taken over most of the better class horses needed for the show.

As a substitute, the club is planning a breakfast ride some time in May.

Appointment Hours

The student hours for the Appointment office have been limited for the benefit of the students. If the student body will observe these new hours, their business will be taken care of more quickly and more accurately, although the office will be open to visitors during the entire day.

Students are asked to note these times: 10-12 and from 2-4 daily; unless asked at other times by the Appointment office, says Miss Doris Barbarez.

MUSIC SELECTED FOR SYMPHONIC SPRING CONCERT

With music selected, rehearsals are getting under way for the spring quarter San Jose State college symphony orchestra concert to be given on the evenings of Monday and Tuesday, June 8 and 9.

The music for the coming concert is, with the exception of one number, definitely on the modern side. Adolph Otterstein, conductor, has chosen for the major composition Brahms' "Second Symphony" in D Major. Although Brahms' works are said to be very difficult listening on the audience's part, it was selected for its popularity and northern and folk-like composition.

Probably the next most modern composition to be played will be "Nocturne" by Debussy. William Erlendson, piano instructor, will appear as soloist. An ultra modern suit, "A Night on Bald Mountain" by Moussorgski, will be the second modern piece. This selection is the same type of modern suite as Grofe's "Grand Canyon Suite." The last number, also from the pen of a contemporary composer, is "Outdoor Overture" by Copeland.

Students Will Be Introduced At CSTA Meet Tomorrow

Introduction of undergraduates to the California Student Teachers' association will be the main object of the meeting to be held tomorrow in Room 1 of the Home Economics building at 4 o'clock.

San Jose State college student teachers of last quarter will speak to the group on actual problems which they have encountered in their respective divisions. Speaking on Music Special Secondary are Ruth Ann McIntire and Stanton Selby; on Commerce, Dave Atkinson; on Art, Doris Pope; on General Elementary, Marge Tran and Margaret Burwash; on Kindergarten-Primary, Mary Hawarth, and on Physical Education, Mary Helen Dumoulin.

All undergraduates who have not done their student teaching are cordially invited to attend the meeting, according to Chapter President Peggy McDonald. Membership in the CSTA is not necessary for attendance.

The fire-fighting unit organized by the Spartan Civilian Defense committee will get under way with a meeting of all volunteers tonight in the Student Union, announces Ann McLaughlin, new committee chairman.

All students who have signed up for the unit and all others who are interested in joining the group are asked to attend this meeting.

MOVIES

Activities of the quarter's work will be outlined and plans of organization completed. Movies demonstrating this type of work will also be shown.

Fire-fighting volunteers will be trained by the San Jose Fire department. The department's equipment, including the fire tower on North Third street, will be available for student use. All apparatus used in fire fighting will be accessible to students. Following completion of the training, students will be provided with the turnout coats and hats and firemen's badges.

EMERGENCY

In case of fire during an emergency, this group will protect the campus. They will also act as a reserve power for the city.

San Jose Fire department can take care of any number of men. All who are interested in this fire fighting unit should attend the meeting tonight without fail, says Chairman McLaughlin. Thirty-five students have already volunteered for this service.

The program will be held this year in the Little Theater and only 200 seats will be sold for each of the two performances, Miss Marjorie Lucas, dance instructor, announced Friday.

Mr. Settles Will Attend Social Meet Tomorrow

Mr. Claude M. Settles of the Social Science department will be absent from the campus while attending the California Conference of Social Work today and tomorrow.

"Many of the nation's prominent social workers will lecture and lead discussions," says Mr. Settles.

In the morning the lectures will be divided into groups consisting of social case work, social insurance, group work, welfare administration and community organization.

"My chief interests are the sections devoted to welfare work and community organization," says Mr. Settles.

The afternoons are to be devoted to discussions in numerous fields relating to aspects of social work in the emergency.

Junior Speech Platform Slated For April 29-30

Announcement came from the office of Mr. L. C. McDenhall, acting head of the Speech department, that the quarter's Speech Platforms, required of junior speech majors, will be held April 29 and 30 in the Little Theater.

As yet no student chairman has been chosen to preside at the event which is open to the public. This quarter will mark the time a student chairman has been chosen to officiate. Previous faculty members directed the event. Fall quarter chairman Miss Ruth Froehlich; winter quarter, Howard Melton.

Student chairmen are chosen on the basis of scholastic and extracurricular activity by a faculty committee.

College Mercy Program Forges Ahead --- De Voss

Plans for the completion of College Hospitalization program will get well under way this week, according to Don DeVoss, campaign leader. Preliminary plans have already been taken in the groundwork of this emergency program and DeVoss is confident of a speedy drive to raise necessary bandages, splints, stretchers and finances.

Calling for 100 men students to act as first aid assistants in case of a possible air raid, the plan calls for considerable equipment. Mindful of the ever-present danger of an air attack, drive up members have designated the new library as the safest air raid shelter in case of emergency.

Because of a curtailment of state and student body funds, campaign leaders are forced to depend upon individual student contributions for success.

All equipment purchased will be used by first aid classes in the training routine, stated DeVoss.

Johnson Mosher, author of "Termites," has been active in speech and writing. He helped write "Music and American Youth" program broadcast over the National Broadcasting system last year.

Last week the group presented "The Boor" by Anton Chekhov and adapted for radio by Modry.
